

Phase 1

Black Health Matters:

Why do so many black people develop Cardio Vascular related diseases such as strokes, dementia, and diabetes?

Join in a series of public consultations to explore this question:

Every Wednesday for 4 weeks from 20th July 2016
10.00 – 11.30

Location for the research:
Westwood Centre,
Moss side,
Manchester,
M14 4SP

People of African and African Caribbean descent suffer poor health across a range of conditions. Therefore, I am inviting people of African or African and Caribbean descent to take part in the first phase of a research project that involves a series of local consultation events. During the sessions, participants will use their daily living experiences to cross-examine the usefulness of public national information contained within leaflets, posters and booklets on health conditions such as stroke, diabetes, dementia and heart disease prevention.

During this part of the study, we will explore whether the public health information available is useful to meet the health needs of this population group.

More detail about this research is available at the reception area of the building.
